STORY OF THE SINKING OF A HUN U-BOAT

Thrilling Rescue and Capture of the Crew By U. S. Destroyer

MEN HAULED FROM WATER AFTER BOAT WENT DOWN

Prisoners Given Every Consideration By the American Jackies

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Dec. 29.—Full details of the destruction by American destroyers of a German submarine and the capture of its crew were made public today by the navy department show that destroyers Fanning and Nicholson were the warships engaged. The incident was reported Nov. 24 but few facts were given at the time.

The submarine was sunk, the navy department's story of the affair indicates, as it was preparing to attack a merchant ship flotilla conveyed by the destroyers.

The navy department's full story of the incident follows:

"At about 4:10 p. m. while escorting a convoy, Coxswain David D. Loomis, lookout of the Fanning, sighted a small periscope some distance off the port bow, extending about a foot out of the water and visible for only a few seconds. The Fanning immediately headed for the spot and about three minutes after the periscope had disappeared dropped a depth charge. The Nicholson also speeded to the position of the submarine which appeared to be headed toward a merchant vessel in the convoy and dropped another depth charge. At that moment the submarine's conning tower appeared on the surface between the Nicholson and the convoy and the Nicholson fired three shots from her stern gun. The bow of the submarine came up rapidly. She was down by the stern but righted herself and seemed to increase her speed. The Nicholson cleared the Fanning headed for the U-boat, firing from the bow guns. After the third shot the crew of the submarine all came on deck and held up their hands, the submarine surrendering at 4:28 p. m.

"The Fanning approached the submarine to pick up the prisoners, the destroyers keeping their batteries trained on the boat. The line was got to the submarine but in a few minutes she sank, the line was let go and the crew of the U-boat jumped into the water and swam to the Fanning.

"Although the crew all wore life preservers," the statement continues, "a number of them were exhausted when they reached the side of the destroyer. As the submarine sank five or six men were caught by the radio aerial and carried below the surface before they disentangled themselves. Ten of the men were so weak that lines had to be passed under their arms to haul them aboard. One man was in such (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)

RUMORED THAT RUMANIAN KING HAS ABDICATED

(Associated Press Telegram) Petrograd, Friday, Dec. 28.—There are persistent rumors here that King Ferdinand of Rumania has abdicated in favor of Crown Prince Charles.

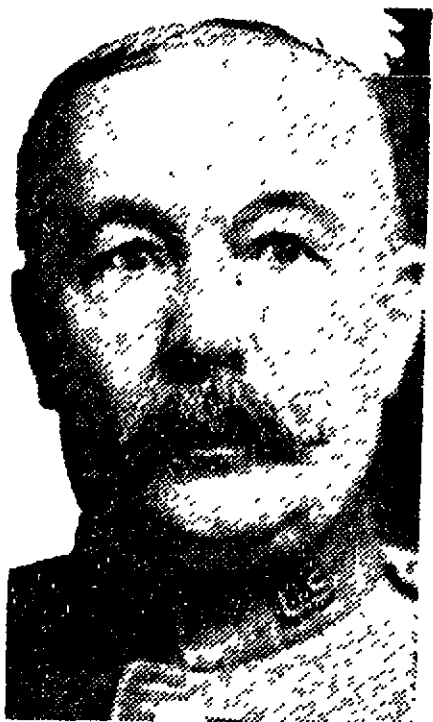

Disturbed conditions in Rumania were reported in a dispatch from Petrograd dated Monday. It was said that news of the revolutionary plot against King Ferdinand had been received at the Bolshevik headquarters in Petrograd. Other reports, it was added, tended to confirm indications of a political crisis. Except for this there has been little news from Rumania since the Rumanian army was forced to agree to an armistice on the eastern front. It had been reported that Bolshevik and German propagandists were at work among the Rumanian troops.

King Ferdinand, who is a member of the Hohenzollern family, succeeded his uncle, King Charles, in October, 1914. King Charles having died at Sinaia on October 10. Rumania declared war on Austria on August 27, 1916, and King Ferdinand took personal command of the army shortly thereafter.

King Ferdinand is the son of Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen and two of his brothers are generals in the German army. He was born at Sigmaringen, August 24, 1868.

Crown Prince Charles was born Oct. 3, 1892, and is an officer in the Rumanian army. He is unmarried, although early in 1914 it was reported that his betrothal to the then Grand Duchess Olga of Russia had been arranged.

YOUNG STUDENT MADE TO SALUTE AMERICAN FLAG

(Special to The Advocate)

Frampton, O., Dec. 29.—After being forced to salute the American flag and apologize for his unpatriotic remarks, Earl Robbins said to be a Bible student from Cleveland, has been advised to leave the vicinity of Frampton, in Fallsbury township, where he was visiting.

Rev. Paul E. Kemper of Parryton has been holding protracted meetings in the Goshen M. E. church at Frampton, but being called away Robbins was filling in during his absence. On Sunday night he delivered an address which greatly agitated the community, and caused the loyal residents there to contemplate drastic action.

It is stated that on Sunday evening in his sermon Robbins made several doubtful statements about the war and then told of a great light which had appeared in the northeast a few mornings before. Robbins described it as forming a huge American flag, which was plainly discernible, and then the flag divided and "went down in blood," which Robbins stated, signified the obliteration of our flag and the defeat of the nation. Then the story goes, Robbins pointed his hand in gesture at some young men in the audience saying "you are the young men who are responsible for this war."

It had been an American flag back of the preacher's stand, and a persistent rumor had it that he had requested its removal. On Sunday evening the flag had disappeared. This report with his sermon following, caused people in the vicinity of Martinsburg and Bladensburg to become greatly wrought up and on Christmas night Rev. Mr. Kemper, who is a true patriot, preached the sermon and during the address Robbins was called back in the audience and asked to retract his statement.

He seemed reluctant, and his hesitation caused several young men to give him a shaking up and he was marched to the preacher's stand by a young soldier from Camp Sherman who was in the congregation. There he saluted the flag and made an apology.

As an aftermath, the sympathizers of Robbins have threatened prosecution for his treatment, but a number of the residents have banded together to defend them and a Mt. Vernon attorney has voluntarily offered his services gratis.

ARGUMENTS START IN LEHMAN MURDER CASE AT WAUSEON

(Associated Press Telegram) Wauseon, O., Dec. 29.—At the conclusion of the testimony today in the Lehman murder case, Common Pleas Judge Wolf overruled a motion by the defense to direct a verdict of acquittal.

Arguments to the jury were begun today and a verdict is expected on New Year's Day.

When the defense after resting, announced that another witness might be called to testify concerning the possibility of fright causing fainting spells, such as Lehman testified he experienced on the night his young wife was murdered, attorneys for the state announced that all its expert witnesses then would be recalled, as an entirely new line of evidence would be opened up. The defense then withdrew its witness.

The contention of the defense is that robbers shot and wounded Lehman, then murdered Mrs. Lehman and that the murder was not committed by Lehman himself, as the state alleges.

INCREASE IN PAY REFUSED BY RAILROADS

Employees Ask Big Increase—Turned Responsibility Over to U. S.

OPERATION BY GOVERNMENT STEP TOWARD OWNERSHIP

Stated Today That Railway Workers Will Not Press Demands For 30 Days

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Dec. 29.—The railroads have definitely refused the demand of their organized employees for 40 per cent increases in pay and have turned the responsibility entirely to the government.

The railway executives here today in letting their decision be known made no concealment of their feeling that government operation is a step toward government ownership, and made clear they felt the public and the stockholders would demand it.

One of the plans under consideration for handling railroad finances is the formation of a government corporation under the director-general of railroads to buy and market railroad securities.

At the same time it became known the railroads had refused the brotherhoods' demands it was learned that the railway workers had decided not to press their request for a period of at least 30 days or until it is seen just what the railroad situation will be.

The railroad war board today directed the operating committee of eastern railroads with headquarters at Pittsburgh to remove immediately to Washington to sit here with the board.

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Dec. 29.—Actual government operation of the railroads began today with the railroad war board continued in charge under orders from Director McAdoo to direct traffic over the most convenient and expeditious routes.

GERMAN FOREMAN IS ARRESTED ON TREASON CHARGE

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, Dec. 29.—Paul Hennig, a naturalized German, who has been employed as a foreman in a Brooklyn factory engaged in the making of torpedoes for the U. S. government was remanded to jail without bail in federal court here today charged with treason.

"Not only would these torpedoes have been useless as weapons, but it is possible they would have proved engines of destruction for their own users," said the district attorney.

Hennig, authorities say, superintended the assembling of the gyroscopes which control the course of the torpedoes. According to District Attorney France some of these gyroscopes have been found "maliciously mutilated." This was done in such a way as to render useless the torpedoes in which the gyroscopes were installed.

Hennig came to the United States in 1908 and was naturalized in 1916. Naval inspectors, it was stated, have had him under close observation for several weeks. Imperfections in the parts of the gyroscopes which are assembled in Hennig's department have aroused suspicion.

The gyroscope, which has been termed "the brain of the torpedo," is of such intricate construction, authorities say, that a defect which could be detected only by an expert would divert the missile from its cause.

In the indictment which was returned yesterday by a federal grand jury and kept secret until today, it is charged Hennig "maliciously and traitorously aided Germany," by equipping torpedo gyroscopes with imperfectly fitted bearings, and wheels which were found to be cracked. District Attorney France declared every day, an abrasive which would disable the delicate gears of the gyroscopes, also was found among some of the assembled parts.

When arraigned before Federal Judge Veeder in Brooklyn today, Hennig, in an accent which was unmistakably German, pleaded "not guilty." He was ordered held without bail until January 2, when a date will be set for his hearing.

FACTORY GIRLS NARROW ESCAPE

(Associated Press Telegram) Cincinnati, Dec. 29.—Twenty young women fleeing hither and yon in the cold, had narrow escapes from being caught in the sweep of flames which did about $50,000 damage this morning in the shirt factory building at 1671 Central avenue. The rapid spread of the fire throughout the four-story structure was marked by exciting scenes, men carrying girls down ladders or leading them, half-fainting, from the building.

New Year Resolution--A Suggestion

The most important present duty of every American citizen is to help win the war. Those of us who stay at home have work to do just as necessary as that of the soldiers and the sailors. We must furnish food, money and supplies for our fighting forces. We must learn the valuable lesson of thrift. We must begin to save. It is the duty of every man, woman and child in Newark and Licking county to open a savings account with Uncle Sam right now.

Buy a 25 cent Thrift Stamp or a $5 War Savings Certificate from your mail-carrier and then buy more stamps just as often as you can. Let your New Year resolution be, "I'll Help Win the War." By all means read the appeal of the Licking County War Savings Committee printed on Page 3 of this edition before you lay aside today's Advocate. Read it, act upon the suggestion, show the paper to others and induce others to act. Let everybody do his or her bit. Your government wants to borrow your savings and will pay you a good rate of interest. Let us have no slackers in Newark or Licking county.

LICKING COUNTY WAR SAVINGS COMMITTEE

SELECTS WILL BE NAMED FOR TRAINING CAMP

(Associated Press Telegram) Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, Dec. 29.—Approximately 700 selects from the eighty-third division will be named on Monday for the third officers training camp, which is to start a week from Saturday, by Major General Glenn, instead of the 350 originally intended. Excellent material among the men and the difficulty of choosing among them is given as one reason for the larger number being chosen.

In addition to the selects who are yet to be named, 117 men appointed from the colleges and universities of Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia, which have military training as a part of their curriculum, will be sent to the camp, making a total in excess of 800, instead of the 440 originally planned, Lieutenant Colonel James G. Hannan, who will be in command of the school, said today. Some of the men appointed from the colleges are here already as selects.

The training school will be an integral part of the division, Colonel Hannan said. He added that should the division move overseas or any other place before the training is completed, the student officers would move with it.

The schedule will be more difficult than that received at either the first or second officers' camps. All of the non-essentials will be eliminated wherever possible to make way for the latest innovations in the way trench warfare from the European front, Colonel Hannan stated. There will be one battery of artillery of 250 men, and the remainder will be divided among two and possibly three infantry companies.

Special stress is to be laid on bombing, hand grenade work, trench bayonet fighting and allied special branches in addition to giving the men every opportunity to command their comrades. European tactics will be adopted wherever possible, it was stated.

Colonel Hannan today stated that every man, following his enlistment for the duration of the war, will be rated as a first class private until the end of the camp and the successful men will be rated as second lieutenants. The men will live like the rest of the selects, in contrast to the good living the candidates in the previous camps enjoyed. They will be allowed forty cents a day for meals.

Selects will soon realize the grim purpose of stay here, officers say, through court martials, if by no other means. Staff officers pointed out today that in disapproving of the findings of the general court martial in the case of Private Fiedler-Johann for alleged atrocities favoring Germany and disrespectful to America, General Glenn expressed his regret that the evidence was not sufficient to find the private guilty.

Another case in point is that of Private Jesse W. Sammons, found guilty today of willful disobedience who was sentenced today to two years hard labor at Fort Leavenworth and discharge from service at expiration of his sentence.

Eight men were discharged from the service today for physical disability.

Brigadier General McRae who has been in command of the 158th depot brigade, left last night to assume control of the night brigade at Camp Greene, Charlotte, N. C. His successor has not been named.

NEWS PRINT HEARINGS

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Dec. 29.—Commissioner W. B. Coiver of the federal trade commission announced today that plans were rapidly maturing for the hearings beginning January 7 in connection with the news print price agreement which several manufacturers recently made with the department of justice. A general invitation has been extended to all publishers and jobbers to participate and it is expected that a large number will attend.

COLD IN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Dec. 29.—Frigid temperatures continued today over the northwest. At Duluth 30 degrees below zero was recorded, and at St. Paul, 22 below.

CONFIRM REPORT OF SINKING OF VINOVA

(Associated Press Telegram) New York, Dec. 29.—Officials of the Cunard line here today confirmed previously published reports of the sinking by a German submarine of the steamship Vinovia off the British Isles.

The Vinovia was a freight-carrying vessel of 5500 tons gross. She was built in Sunderland in 1906.

TWO AMERICANS, PRISONERS. Washington, Dec. 29.—Through the American Red Cross the navy department has confirmed cable dispatches that two men from the Jacob Jones were taken prisoners by the submarine which sank the destroyer. One of the men the department announced tonight, is Albert De Mello, whose relatives were notified yesterday. The name of the second man was so garbled in transmission that it will be necessary to make further inquiry to determine his identity.

COAL SHORTAGE OVER STATE IS VERY SERIOUS

(Associated Press Telegram) Columbus, Dec. 29.—Ohio today was suffering from the most serious coal shortage of the winter—a shortage much more acute than the one during the cold snap of two weeks ago.

From 100 to 300 appeals for help are being received at the office of federal fuel administration for Ohio each day, but the coal is not to be had. Pitiful tales of suffering are recited of families with babies being forced to live in cold homes.

Practically all of the lake coal taken over two weeks ago has been distributed, and the market is again bare. The fuel administration today pointed out that the warmer weather of the last two weeks has been of assistance to the railroads in moving freight, but that it did not last long enough to permit the railroads to rush a sufficient number of empty coal cars to the mines.

It was reported that the railroads are making heroic efforts to relieve the car shortage, but that the freight congestion is so great that but little headway has been made.

Many industrial plants and public utilities over Ohio has reported a slim supply of coal and the possibility that they may be forced to close down if more coal is not available.

COAL FAMINE IN CLEVELAND

(Associated Press Telegram) Cleveland, Dec. 29.—A coal famine that state fuel administration officials said today will be more serious than the one of two weeks ago is expected to follow a continuation of the cold wave that struck Cleveland last night. Coal officials said today that very little coal has been placed for distribution since the lake coal was taken over recently.

The majority of the fuel confiscated by the state has remained on sidings because of congested railroad facilities.

At 8 o'clock this morning the temperature recorded at the clock in the public square was four degrees above zero. Local weather bureau officials predict zero weather for tomorrow and possibly Monday.

The natural gas pressure remained near normal throughout the city this morning.

SITUATION IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 29.—With the mercury one degree below zero and "falling," New York's coal shortage again became acute today and caused fuel administrators considerable anxiety. It was said that only two-thirds of the city's normal daily supply of 40,000 tons was delivered yesterday and the prospects of obtaining the average quota within the next few days are considered dubious.

COAL WAVE AT BOSTON

Boston, Dec. 29.—The most severe cold wave experienced in New England since 1914 swept in from the northwest early today and caused widespread suffering because of the general lack of fuel. From a maximum reading of 37 degrees yesterday the temperature dropped to four degrees below.

MUCH ACTIVITY REPORTED FROM VARIOUS FRONTS

(Compiled from A. P. Dispatches) King Ferdinand has abdicated the Rumanian throne in favor of Crown Prince Charles, according to persistent rumors in Petrograd. Official confirmation, however, is lacking.

Unsettled conditions and a political crisis in Rumania were reported early this week in dispatches from Petrograd and the Bolshevik government received information that there had been a revolutionary plot against King Ferdinand. The Rumanian army has been inactive since the Russian armistice and peace negotiations forced it to suspend hostilities. Bolshevik and German propagandists have been reported working among the Rumanian troops.

Russia. Leon Trotsky, told the council of workmen and soldiers' delegates, would be forced to conclude a separate peace with Germany unless the entente allies join in the peace negotiations within ten days. The Bolshevik foreign minister announced that he officially will ask the entente powers whether they will join in the peace negotiations. An advance guard of German peace emissaries has arrived in Petrograd.

Great Britain and France through Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Minister Pichon, have replied formally to the peace proposals enunciated by Count Czernin for the central powers. The German terms are declared to be insufficient. The British national labor conference has voted to continue the war to make the world safe for democracy in future.

Foreign policies of the French government were approved by the French chamber of deputies. Only in Palestine has there been marked fighting activity. North and northwest of Jerusalem British troops after repulsing four Turkish attacks, attacked the enemy and pushed them back two and a half miles on a front of nine miles. Turkish losses are reported to have been heavy and among the prisoners taken were Germans.

Artillery duels occupy the opposition armies on the Italian and western fronts. On the front in France the German artillery fire has been heavy around St. Quentin and in the Ypres sector. A German attack in Lorraine was broken up by French gun fire.

A shell fired by an American passenger steamer is believed to have sunk a German submarine near the British Isles Thursday. Gunners and passengers saw the periscope of a submarine and the second shot from the gun exploded and threw debris from the submarine in the air. The enemy vessel was not seen again.

THREE BRITISH DESTROYERS SUNK; 193 MEN WERE LOST

(Associated Press Telegram) London, Dec. 29.—Three British torpedo boat destroyers were sunk through being struck by torpedoes or hitting a mine off the Dutch coast on the night of Dec. 22, with the loss of thirteen officers and one hundred and eighty men, the admiralty announced today.

The statement reads: "Three of our destroyers were mined or torpedoed during foggy weather off the Dutch coast on the night of the 22nd of December. A total of 13 officers and 180 men were lost."

FURLONGS GRANTED AT CAMP SHERMAN

(Associated Press Telegram) Camp Sherman, Dec. 29.—A wave of great joy spread through camp today when Ohio selective draft soldiers were informed that applications for passes for New Year's would be granted to 50 per cent of the big force in training here.

AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE IN A BIG SNOWSTORM

Roads Choked, Traffic Delayed and Plows Used to Keep Way Clear

TRAINING IS CALLED OFF FOR THE PRESENT

Pershing Favors Forbidding Sale of Intoxicants to American Troops

With the American Army in France, Friday, Dec. 28.—(By The Associated Press.)—Still another day of howling snowstorm—the fourth—saw virtually the entire American expeditionary force within the army zone abandon preparations to battle the Germans and begin a fight to keep from being snowed under. All last night and throughout today the flakes fell, choking the roads and badly delaying traffic. By nightfall the roads were in such shape that plows were brought out to keep the way clear. Soon after dark the sky cleared and a full moon came out, bathing the entire country in light almost as brilliant as day and making conditions ideal for air raids. There were low hanging clouds on the horizon, however, giving promise of more snow.

Virtually all training work was called off today but will be resumed tomorrow unless more heavy snow makes it impossible.

SENATE COMMITTEE STILL BUSY WITH ITS WAR INQUIRY

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Dec. 29.—The profitable "scrap sorting contracts" in connection with making of war uniforms which testimony at the senate committee investigation in war activities have led into the committee of the council of national defense, came up again at today's hearing while Quartermaster Sharpe was still under examination.

It was developed that Samuel Kaplan, a member of one of the supply committees had protested against cancellation of a sorting contract in which his brother was interested, and it was further developed that his brother was treasurer of the Millbrook mills commandeered by the government.

Senator McKellar asked whether Emmanuel Kaplan treasurer of the Millbrook company, was not a brother of Samuel Kaplan, a member of the supply committee. General Sharpe said he thought so. The other mill was the Thames River Woolen mills. Both were ordered to devote their machinery to government work, cancelling private contracts.

Did you know that Samuel Kaplan of the Council of National Defense, is president and owns two-thirds of the stock in the Millbrook company? asked Senator McKellar. General Sharpe said he did not.

Last Saturday General Sharpe said Samuel Kaplan and other members of the councils supply committee came to him and protested against cancelling of wool scrap sorting contracts given the Base Sorting company of New York. Senator McKellar said that Ira A. Kaplan, president of the sorting company, which General Sharpe said stood to make $400,000 a year on the sorting, recently annulled because it was regarded excessive, was related to the council committee members.

"We had to follow the advice of the council committee," said General Sharpe, explaining that Charles Eisenman, head of the supply committee had approved the contract.

S Senator McKellar assured General Sharpe that the quartermaster general's faith and good intent in the situation was not questioned.

Senator Weeks brought out that on April 3, Boston wool dealers offered all their wool to the government at prevailing prices but the offer never reached General Sharpe, being referred to the general munitions board. When orders were given to prepare to clothe one million more men, General Sharpe said, soaring prices, rather than a shortage was the worst factor in the situation.

"I was told by a responsible man that the failure of the government to accept the Boston wool men's offer of April 3 has cost the government $150,000,000," said Senator Weeks, "and I want to find out who is responsible for delay in its acceptance, and also who is responsible for delay in beginning purchases. I, for one, am somewhat dismayed by the length of time it takes in the war to do things. Apparently injection of the Council of National Defense makes for further delay."

Senator Wadsworth, on June 5 the treasury authorized the war department to buy wool but that no considerable amount was bought until September. General Sharpe insisted that there was no unnecessary delay and that the council had to thoroughly study the new subject.

a condition that he could not even hold the line thrown him. Chief Pharmacist Mate Harwell and Coxswain Francis G. Connor (N. Y. V.) jumped overboard after this man and secured a line under his arms. When he was hauled aboard every effort was made to resuscitate him but he died in a few minutes. The four officers of the submarine and the 35 members of the crew were all taken prisoners.

"After being taken on board the prisoners were given hot coffee and sandwiches. Though kept under strict guard they seemed contented and after a short time commenced to sing. To make them more comfortable the crew of the destroyer gave them their warm coats and heavy clothing.

"The German officers said the first depth charge had wrecked the machinery of the submarine and caused her to sink to a considerable depth.

"The submarine bore no number nor distinguishing mark. She was, however, identified by life belts and by statements of an officer and member of the crew. One of the life belts the report said, had 'Kaiser' marked on one side and 'Gott' on the other. The Fanning proceeded to port and transferred her prisoners under guard. As they were leaving in small boats the Germans gave three cheers. The commanding officer of the Fanning read the burial service over the body of the dead German sailor and the destroyer proceeded to sea and buried him with full military honors.

"In his report the commander of the Fanning praises the conduct of his officers and crew and gives particular credit to Lieutenant Walter O. Henry, officer of the deck and Coxswain Loomis, who sighted the periscope. He also commends Pharmacist's Mate Harwell and Coxswain Connor, who jumped overboard to save the drowning German.

"The British commander-in-chief under whom the destroyers were operating said this in his report to the British admiralty.

"The whole affair reflects credit on the discipline and training of the United States flotilla," and added that the incident showed that the Fanning is a man of war in the best sense of the term, well disciplined and organized and ready for immediate action.

"He also praises her commander, Lieutenant A. S. Carpenter and commends Lieutenant Henry, Coxswain Loomis, Harwell and Coxswain Connor. The British admiral also commended the prompt action of the Nicholson, which he says, completed the success of its sister ship. The Nicholson was commanded by Lieutenant G. H. Fort. The British admiral sent a telegram to the commander-in-chief, directing him to express to the commanding officer, officers and men of the Fanning, his high appreciation of their successful action against enemy submarines.

"Vice Admiral Sims, commanding the American forces operating in the European waters, commended the officers and men of the Fanning and Nicholson. Coxswain Loomis was advanced to the next higher rating in recognition of his vigilance in sighting the periscope."

BOY FELL FROM SLED; STRUCK BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Jay Harris, 14, son of C. A. Harris, 68 Smith street, who was injured when struck by an automobile late Thursday evening, is getting along nicely.

The boy had hitched his sled onto a machine, which was going south on Seventh street. Woolson Davis was driving his machine east on Locust street, and at the junction of the two streets, the Harris boy fell off the sled directly in the path of the machine which struck him. He was given every attention by the driver and removed to his home. His shoulderbone was broken and the shoulder badly lacerated. Dr. H. H. Postle is the attending physician.

roads since April, now will be enabled to effect the pooling of traffic heretofore impossible under the anti-trust laws.

The board's intention as operating head of the railroads for the present was announced yesterday after five members had conferred with Director McAdoo who instructed them to continue their functions and submit immediately a plan for directing traffic. Later Mr. McAdoo issued his first formal order designed to speed up the freight movement. He instructed all railroads to move shipments by the shortest routes, and ordered them to continue operation of their lines to conform with President Wilson's proclamation outlining them under government control.

Director McAdoo did not indicate whether he intended to displace the war board eventually, but it was made clear that it would continue until he decided that a better plan can be devised. All the war board's committees, including the operating committee of the eastern roads, headed by A. W. Thompson of the Baltimore and Ohio, were drafted into service. The director's general also retained the board's car service commission, which is assisting the interstate commerce commission in distributing cars.

As another measure to relieve congestion the war board members urged elimination of some forms of traffic and it is intimated that denial of transportation to commodities considered nonessential may follow. This subject will be left largely to Judge Robert S. Lovett, government director of priority appointments of a government traffic manager to co-ordinate preferential shipments of the food and fuel commodities and the quartermaster's corps also is under consideration.

SITUATION IN HAMILTON QUIET

(Associated Press Telegram)
Hamilton, O., Dec. 29.—How long the sympathetic strike because a number of union men indicted for alleged rioting refused to give a $50 bond for their release pending a hearing and were sent to jail will continue is not known.

The Typographical Union, the Retail Clerks Union and Sheet Metal Workers Union however received orders from international headquarters not to go out on a sympathetic strike and so they have not done so. Machineists, molders, bartenders, and jewelry workers are out, however, and how long they will remain out is problematical. The situation in Hamilton, however, is very quiet and there has been no disturbance of any kind. Sailors may be forced to leave owing to their inability to get beer with the breweries closed.

The first of the new suits will be placed on the market in February.

ents today, said the question of prohibiting the sale of all intoxicating liquors to Americans which he favors is being discussed with the French government. He explained his recent order prohibiting the sale of all intoxicants except light wine and beer and the conditions prevailing in France which caused it to be drawn as it was.

"The question of prohibiting the sale of intoxicants to American troops is under discussion with the French government," said General Pershing, "but of course there are difficulties here in France that do not exist in the United States. The general order issued December 13 was a long step toward the prevention of drinking among our men."

"It was not by any means intended to convey an injunction to the American troops to drink light wine and beer but quite the reverse. It was drawn to conform to French regulations on the subject."

"It stated only that light wine and beer would be permitted and prohibited the purchase of and acceptance of gifts of whiskey, brandy, champagne or similar beverages. It ordered that all drinking places where such articles are sold be forbidden American soldiers. It is the same regulation made in France by the British army and by the French."

"Although I am heartily in favor of prohibition for the American expeditionary force, the situation in France and the United States is not the same. Comparatively few French people drink wine as we do; they drink wine instead. This partly because the French water supply is not as pure as ours. French wine is light and much less intoxicating than a generally supposed. An intoxicated Frenchman is a rare sight indeed."

French beer also is by no means strong. The French government issues to its soldiers a regular wine ration. Obviously there are obstacles to forbidding wine shops in the zone of the army to do business at all, which practically is what the French would have to do. Local sentiment will play a large part in the determination of this question.

"The same order which forbade soldiers taking strong drink contained the most rigid regulations to prevent the spread of the social diseases. The two questions are closely connected. Thus far, the record of the army in both respects has been most excellent. It is highly gratifying to me and is a testimonial to the high character of the American soldier. Everything possible is being done to protect his morals and his health and to make him an honor to himself and his countrymen."

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cleveland, Dec. 29.—A shock felt over a radius of more than a mile in Shaker Heights, a Cleveland suburb, today, followed a dynamite explosion in the garage of Howard J. Latimer, which wrecked the garage and one auto.
Police attribute the explosion to the same persons who last July attempted to wreck the Lincoln Fireproof Storage company, of which Mr. Latimer is president.

48 DEGREES BELOW ZERO.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Toronto, Dec. 29.—Temperatures of 48 degrees below zero at White River, Ont., and 32 below at Winnipeg and Cobalt were reported today in a spell of unusually severe weather prevalent throughout Canada from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic. The cold wave, weather observers say, is moving east.

AMERICANS RELEASED.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Dec. 29.—R. R. Stevens, manager of the National City branch bank in Petrograd and his assistant, a Mr. Link, arrested when the Bolsheviks seized the bank have been released. American Ambassador Francis reported today.

Mr. and Mrs. George McLain have returned to their home in Ninth street, after a pleasant visit with friends in Pittsburgh.

Mercurius.
In the mythology of ancient pagan Rome Mercurius, or Mercury, to give the English form of the Latin name, was the divinity of commerce and gain, and was identified by the Romans with the Greek Hermes. A temple was built to Mercurius as early as B. C. 495, near the Circus Maximus, and an altar of the god existed near the Porta Capena by the side of a well. His festival was celebrated on May 25, and chiefly by merchants who visited the well near the Porta Capena to which magic powers were ascribed.

Great Mangrove Swamps.
Mindoro, one of the larger islands of the Philippine group, is a province by itself and contains 3,983 square miles. It is distant from Manila a little more than 100 miles. Along the shores of this island are more than 30,000 acres of mangrove swamps, with large trees in practically virgin growth, conservatively estimated to yield 50,000 tons of bark readily convertible into approximately 17,000 tons of cutch. Just why this growth should have remained untouched for so long is not explained.

Monks Carved Church Seats.
Church seats carved by monks are to be seen within the walls of the ancient church at Clodock on the borders of Monmouthshire. The edifice was built some eight centuries ago and for many years it had interesting relations with Lanthony Abbey while it was the monks of the adjacent monastery that did much of the beautiful carving within its walls. The fine tower is now so dilapidated that it must be speedily restored if it is to be saved from ruin.

Rules Only for the Weak.
It is one of the weaknesses of mankind that it is forever establishing rules, programs, formulae. They serve their purposes for the guidance of ordinary minds. But the pioneers of thought ride rough-shod through the rulers. They gain the ends they desire by refusing to be directed by what someone else has thought before them, by what teachers have insisted upon as binding.—Exchange.

Best Kind of Play is Work.
One of the best kinds of play is work. Many of the elements of play enter into work if it is performed in the right spirit. The most satisfying forms of play are those in which interest is excited; competition, with desire to succeed and accomplish some definite end, makes the game worth playing. Work is fatiguing and distasteful when it is lacking in these elements.

Take Pains.
Genius has been defined as an infinite capacity for taking pains, and talent, which is a sort of second cousin of genius, has the same characteristics, observes an educator. One who will take pains enough will meet with a measure of success. And no one who belittles the need of patient, plodding work is likely to succeed, no matter what his endowments.

At Sunday School.
"Give an account of Balaam," said the teacher. "Balaam was a prophet who lived a long way off," replied the student. "After a while he went out for a ride on his donkey, and he got very angry with the donkey and hit him, and a voice from heaven said, 'You must not hit the donkey; it is holy ground.'"

Making Bulgarian Milk.
The milk of the Bulgarians, well known all over the world for its superior nutritive quality, is made by exposing it to the sun, the rapid development of the germs under the action of the ultra violet rays being such that when it becomes dry they are in highly concentrated form.

Moss is Valuable.
"Moss" is the popular name for several kinds of small flowerless plants which flourish in damp places. In mountainous and wet districts tracts of moss are of great service in retaining the water and preventing sudden floods.

Too Particular.
The girl who thinks more of her gorgeously crepe waist than she does of her beau and refuses to permit it to get mussed will never march to the well-known tune of Mr. Mendelssohn. —Florida Times-Union.

Some Towers.
The height of the Eiffel tower, Paris, is 986 feet; of the Blackpool tower, 520 feet; of New Brighton tower, 570 feet, and of the Woolworth building, New York, 750 feet.

Queer Place for Meteorites.
One of the remarkable features of the ocean's floor is the fact that in some places it is covered with the dust of meteorites.

Silent Applause.
Many a vaudeville actress seems to think she's a big thing because she sings through her nose, like an elephant.—Exchange.

Vehicles Bear Owners' Names.
In England all cars and wagons must bear the owner's name and address before being used in a public highway.

GIVEN A SPLENDID RECOMMENDATION BY SERVICE DIRECTOR

Walter Kussmaul, formerly chief engineer at the water works and electric power station of the city, and who recently enlisted in the aviation department, was given a splendid recommendation by Director of Public Service W. C. Christian. The recommendation came as a result of the excellent service given by Mr. Kussmaul to the city and follows in detail:

WALTER KUSSMAUL

Former chief engineer at the water works and electric power station, but now in the aviation department of the U. S. A.

In recommending Walter Kussmaul to your department, I do it from a patriotic standpoint, because I do not desire that he leave the employ of the city of Newark.

"I consider him the most valuable man that was ever in charge of the water works—electric light power station.

"Since he was raised to chief engineer the plant has been run without any friction between the men, and the whole equipment has been brought up to a high state of efficiency, always busy in producing results, ready at all hours day or night, to remedy any trouble.

"He is self-made, starting in the plant as a common helper, gradually working his way upward.

"His desire to give his country some of his training as a skilled operator is highly commendable, as our country comes first in the present crisis.

"We gladly submit to his desire, otherwise we would feel that every effort should be made to keep him in the position he now occupies.

Rabies.

The popular opinion seems to be that a bite from a rabid dog in every instance causes hydrophobia in man. The figure, however, has been placed at 40 per cent of those not receiving Pasteur treatment, according to a medical journal. A man or dog suffering with rabies never recovers, the mortality being 100 per cent. The period of incubation is very indefinite, varying from a few weeks to several years. The average period in dogs is about forty days. The treatment discovered by Pasteur which is very efficacious, requires about fifteen days to induce an active immunity to the disease. All wounds produced by bites of animals should be cauterized at once, especially if there is any suspicion of rabies.

HOUSEWIFE WARNED NOT TO OVERSTOCK

Excessive Buying Laid to Pro-German Propaganda by the Food Administration.

Three successive buying drives on salt, laundry blue and matches, by housewives throughout the eastern part of the country, are the result of the latest efforts of pro-German propagandists. This is the belief of the United States food administration after its attention has been called to a temporary embarrassment on the part of retailers caused by unusually large purchases of the above commodities by women in various localities. These excessive buying campaigns have started from rumors of a threatened shortage in the three articles, and have caused the panicky housewives to stock up with them in sufficient quantities to last their families for more than a year.

The food administration announces that there is no actual shortage in either salt, matches or laundry blue; that the national stock is as large as ever with no possibility of a shortage with a normal demand on the part of the consumer, and that rumors of any such shortage can be attributed only to German agents wishing to upset the even course of trade and spread dissatisfaction with war conditions. It is pointed out that a temporary shortage in a particular locality may be caused at any time if the people in that locality make twenty or thirty times their normal purchases.

The drive on salt in the present instance, seems to have begun in New York city, and spread as far as Boston and Washington, where many storekeepers absolutely sold out of the commodity in a couple of days. Immediately following the excessive purchases of salt, came the case of laundry blue. The third wave of big buying has been centered on matches and its origin has been traced to Jersey City.

The fact that the buying drives have come in successive waves points to organized effort, and it is the belief of the food administration that false rumors concerning other commodities may be expected. It therefore warns the housewife to disregard any such reports and not to overstock, since such procedure works actual harm and may cause real shortage for a time in particular localities.

FRENCH MAY MARVEL AT 'MILLIONAIRE' TROOPS

"Rich Men's Regiments" Famed for Big Incomes Possessed by the Personnel

The American soldier is generally known in foreign lands by the trail of coin which he leaves in his wake. With this reputation already before him, what the natives of other lands will think when certain American outfits arrive "in their midst" is now a matter of conjecture with officers whose particular concern is these regiments. The organizations referred to are a product of the war. They are known as "rich men's regiments," and are worthy of the name.

These units have already made a reputation for themselves, not as spendthrifts, but for the big incomes possessed by the personnel.

For instance, a certain engineer regiment at Camp Meade is made up principally of graduates of colleges and technical institutions. About 65 per cent of the enlisted men gave up incomes of from $5,000 a year upward to serve for $30 per month.

Another regiment of engineers at a camp near Washington is composed of men of high technical attainments, whose civilian incomes outrange those of some officers. Some of the officers of the technical branches were big consulting engineers whose incomes ran to five figures.

In a big southern training camp is, or was, a squadron of crack National Guard cavalry, whose members were big business men and rich men's sons. One of these units distinguished itself on the border when some of its "buck privates" went in for high-power motor cars. One such squadron, now changed to field artillery, has in its ranks and among the officers some of the wealthiest business men of Washington.

These men are not reckless spenders, but are every inch soldiers, and intend to prove it on the other side.

CRUTCH FOR DOG

Leg Broken, He Gets Along Fine With Aid of Crutch.

A dog that walks with a crutch is in one of the hospital cells of the Spokane Humane society's home. The dog is no trained trickster and has never appeared on the stage. But it was crutch or painless death for him and he chose the crutch. The dog is named Dawn and was formerly owned by J. B. Rowan, the L. W. W. leader. Two weeks ago Dawn got in the way of a big automobile. In the mixup he suffered a broken front leg close to the shoulder.

"The dog is almost human in the use of the crutch," said J. E. Rudersdorf, manager of the humane society. "Never has he attempted to tear the bandages away and he uses the crutch with a skill that makes one believe that he is an old hand at the game."

You can always save yourself a lot of trouble by not looking for it.

U. S. PROTECTS ITS FIGHTING MEN WITH INSURANCE

(Special to The Advocate.)

Philadelphia, Dec. 23.—That the United States is protecting its fighting men and their dependents against accident, ill health and death more democratically and more generously than any other nation in the history of the world, through government insurance, was the assertion made last night by Federal Judge Julian W. Mack of the Committee on Labor of the Advisory Commission of the Council of National Defense, in discussing the significance of the soldiers' and sailors' insurance act at the annual meeting of the American Association for Labor Legislation.

Private insurance companies were unwilling to undertake the insurance of the fighting forces without payments far beyond the reach of the men, according to Judge Mack, and the government was able to come forward with the insurance at moderate cost because it is not called upon to pay large overhead expenses of management, solicitations, taxes, advertising, expenses of medical examinations, emergencies and profits. "The government is not in the habit of carrying its insurance in private companies," he said, "it carries its own insurance so far as the lives of its soldiers are concerned. Then, too, the government can sell this insurance, on a strictly business basis, at from 20 to 30 per cent less than the private companies would charge."

"When the government decided to extend this insurance to a large and vitally essential part of the population it made the law thoroughly democratic," declared Judge Mack.

"There are some who might wish to have $100,000 insurance but it would not be fair and just for the government to grant that. The government can only extend a reasonable amount of protection, and Congress finally decided in accordance with the original suggestion, strongly urged by President Wilson, that $10,000 of insurance was a reasonable measure of protection. Every man and woman in the service, officers and men alike, are entitled to this insurance in equal measure. And the fact that our soldiers and sailors are taking the government's insurance almost as fast as it can be written, and that men in highest command as well as privates lowest in rank, are together calling for an average close to the maximum of $10,000 is a most encouraging indication that the benefits of this protective legislation are understood and appreciated."

How the Kangaroo Got Its Name.

When Captain Cook discovered Australia he sent his sailors ashore to buy the body of an animal which he saw in possession of the natives. After the bargain was made the men tried to find out the name of the animal. But the natives, not being able to understand English, replied in their own language: "Kan-garoo," which meant, "I don't know," meaning that they did not know what the men were talking about. The sailors, however, thought they had the answer to their question and reported to their captain that the animal was called a kangaroo, and so the poor kangaroo got a name that did not belong to him, and has had it ever since.

"Turkey Ranching" Is Tried.

In the foothill region of California, in some sections of Arizona and other Western states, "turkey ranching" has become a recognized industry, though as yet an infant one. Some of these turkey ranches produce more than 1,000 birds a year. The ideal situation for turkey ranching is one where the natural food of the turkey, such as grasshoppers and other insects, green vegetation and seeds, is abundant. A range where acorns are abundant is especially suitable. The turkeys are driven out on the range each day, like sheep, and back home at night. They are sometimes herded by men on horseback, like cattle. Specially trained dogs also are used.

Let Your New Year Resolution Be: "I'll Help Win the War!"

TO THE PEOPLE OF LICKING COUNTY:

Every man, woman and child in Licking county is urged to begin the new year next Tuesday by starting a savings account with the United States government.

One may open such an account by stopping any mail-carrier or by going to the postoffice, to any bank, to one of the newspaper office, and buying a 25-cent Thrift stamp or a $5 War Savings stamp. The stamps are in two denominations—25 cents and $5. When you collect sixteen 25-cent Thrift stamps they may be exchanged at any time before February 1 for a $5 stamp by paying 12 cents additional in cash. War Savings stamps may be bought outright till February 1 at $4.12 each. The price increases one-cent each month so that War Savings stamps in February will cost $4.13, in March $4.14, and so on. Thrift stamps (25 cents each) do not draw interest, but the $5 War Savings stamps pay 4 per cent compounded quarterly, they are tax-free and may be cashed at the holder's pleasure. War Savings stamps may be registered without charge so that the owner is made perfectly safe. Like Liberty bonds, the Thrift stamps and War Savings stamps are backed by the credit of the United States government. If they are not a perfectly safe investment no investment on earth is safe. As they are free from taxation, few investments pay better, none is safer and none is so easily converted into cash. Remember, you can get your money back any time when you want it—plus about 3 per cent interest—but if you hold the War Savings stamps till maturity (in 1923) you get your money back, plus 4 per cent interest.

In offering War Savings stamps to the public the government has made immediately available for every man, woman and child a profitable, simple and secure investment.

War Savings stamps are the answer of a great democracy to the demand for a democratic form of government security. They are "little baby bonds." Like Liberty bonds, they have behind them the entire resources of the government and people of the United States. They have the additional advantage that they steadily increase in value from the date of purchase until the date of maturity, and this increase is guaranteed by the government.

For the convenience of investors a "Thrift Card" is furnished to all purchasers of 25-cent stamps. This card has spaces for 16 stamps. When all the spaces have been filled the Thrift Card may be exchanged for a $5 stamp by adding 12 cents in cash prior to February 1, 1918, and one-cent additional each month thereafter.

Those who prefer may buy a $5 stamp outright. These will be on sale until January 31, 1918, for $4.12. They automatically increase in value a cent a month every month thereafter until January 1, 1923, when the United States will pay $5 at any postoffice or at the treasury in Washington for each stamp affixed to a War Savings Certificate.

When you purchase a $5 stamp, you must attach it to an engraved folder known as a "War Savings Certificate" which bears the name of the purchaser and can be cashed only by the person whose name appears upon the certificate, except in case of death or disability. This certificate contains 20 stamps. If these are all filled with War Savings stamps by January 31, 1918, the cost to the purchaser will be $82.40, and on January 1, 1923, the government will pay the owner of the certificate $100—a net profit to the holder of $17.60. This is based on an interest rate of 4 per cent compounded quarterly. The amount of War Savings stamps sold to any one person at any one time shall not exceed $100 (maturity value), and no person may hold such stamps or War Savings Certificates to an aggregate amount exceeding $1000.

The plan is simple, straightforward, and certain. The holder of the certificates cannot lose and is certain to gain. He is buying the safest security in the world in the most convenient form in which the security of a great government has ever been offered to its people.

The people of Ohio are asked to buy $106,000,000 worth of these stamps in 1918. Based on a population of 61,809 at $20 per capita, the quota just established for Licking county by the Ohio War Savings committee is $1,236,180 for the year 1918. Already many hundreds of people in this community have opened savings accounts with the federal government. If Licking county is to do its share in this great war savings movement, everybody must become interested, all must start accounts and keep on buying stamps at frequent intervals throughout the year. Thrift clubs are to be started all over the county.

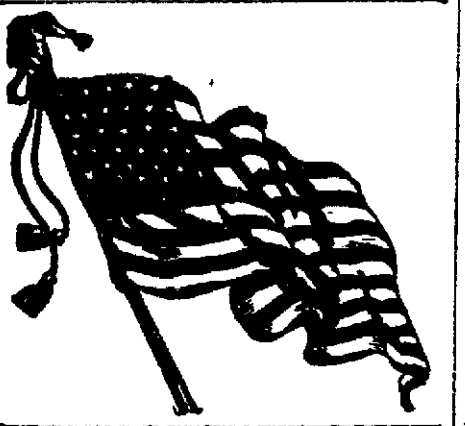

Yesterday afternoon, Superintendent Dayton of the American Bottle company, called all of the factory foremen together and the savings plan was explained to them in detail. The men manifested great interest and agreed to organize the great American Bottle company's plant into Thrift clubs for systematic war savings. The American Bottle company also agreed to give a substantial check towards the expense of the county committee's campaign of education. The government asks the patriots of each community to finance their own campaign. Those who desire to contribute to the fund which will be used to promote the success of this savings campaign in this county are invited to send checks to Charles C. McGruder, secretary, care Home Building Association, Newark, O. Money will be needed for advertising, printing, typewriting, etc. All of the committees will work throughout the year without compensation.

If we are to win the war we must win it as a united people; The savings of every person in America are necessary if we are to hasten the victorious ending of the war. WAR-SAVERS ARE LIFE-SAVERS. A country worth fighting for is a country worth saving for. To save money now is to save life. Remember, if every person in the United States buys one stamp that gives the government $25,000,000, and if everybody should buy one stamp every day, it would finance the war.

Begin the new year by starting a savings account with Uncle Sam. Let there be no slackers in Licking county.

WINNING THE WAR.

The Advocate has been running for some weeks a feature, headed "Winning the War." Our readers will be glad to know that we propose continuing it for the present. The writer who is preparing these articles for us is making a study of war strategy and organization, and of all the forces that win wars. War is the most thrilling game man ever set out to play. It takes brains to win battles. It is not merely a question of fighting forces, but it is a battle of wits. What "inside baseball" is to the national game, strategy is to war. The inside of this war is the greatest human interest story ever told in this world. The gains to be made by discipline, correct training and organization of forces, skillful handling of men and munitions, coupled with the scientific aspect of fighting, are the forces that win wars. Our writer is working on all this material, after study of the best expert military authorities and writers. He will have once a week a story about some phase of the inside of the war. All our readers will want to see it and every resident of Licking county should subscribe to the Advocate for this feature alone.

Among your new year resolutions be sure to include this: Save and invest in Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps. To adopt such a resolution and adhere to it throughout the coming year will help America to win the war and it will be of incalculable benefit to everyone who starts a savings account with Uncle Sam.

Doctor Garfield may call the coal trouble psychological if he likes, but if he had been in Newark a few days ago like some of us with no fuel in the bin and the mercury registering 12 to 16 degrees below zero, he might have used a stronger term than that.

The Germans are still confident about our entrance to the war, as Kaiser Bill has informed them that our soldiers will have only wooden guns and won't be able to get anywhere else.

If anybody should worry it's the man who has no income tax to pay. But, as a rule, he is far happier than the one with a large income.

It is claimed the railroads don't need to spend coal warming their ears, as the mad passengers would heat them up.

Perpetual Chronology—2732

GO TO CHURCH TOMORROW
Tomorrow is the last Sunday in 1917. Doubtless many of the Sundays of the year were lived selfishly, not even attempting to give God His own. Now you have come to the last Sunday of the year. The last opportunity in 1917 to publicly show respect for His ordinances and a religious regard for His commandments. The last Sunday! There is something startlingly suggestive in the phrase. Suppose it were to be your last Sunday on earth, which would have the precedence, God's requirement or selfish inclination? Go to church tomorrow just as though you consciously knew it would be your last Sunday in this life. If you have not been faithful in using the sanctuary privileges through the year, tomorrow gives you an opportunity to at least attempt some amends; but it is the last opportunity. Redeem the past as best you can. Go to church tomorrow thoughtfully, hopefully, confidently, prayerfully and the dying year will leave you richer, happier, better.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

Many national advertisers put enormous sums of money into advertising in magazines, meanwhile spending much less in local newspapers. A study of that situation was recently made by the advertising manager of the Ford Motor company. He found that in 51 cities of the United States, the 149 newspapers had a total circulation of 15,000,000. In the same cities, a group of the principal leading magazines had but 880,000 circulation. This test was, of course, made in the larger cities. But a similar ratio would hold good through the country at large. In any particular community the circulation of any one magazine is but a small fragment of the population compared with what the local newspaper gets. It is undoubtedly true that the circulation of The Advocate is greater in Newark than that of all the leading popular magazines put together. During recent years there has been a largely increased tendency for national advertisers to use the local papers. They are beginning to realize that that is the only way to get at any considerable section of the people. Local merchants could get a lot of help on the advertising problem by putting it up to the salesmen who come around to represent nationally advertised goods. If retailers generally would ask these salesmen to tell their advertising manager that the retailers want their goods advertised in the home-paper, a great many advertising managers would supply the funds for this purpose. Many of them are doing it now. Let retailers generally take that attitude and request this form of co-operation from the corporations whose goods they are handling, and they can get a lot of help toward publicity.

UP TO THE FARMERS.

"Upon the farmer rests in large measure the final responsibility of winning the war in which we are now involved," says the Birmingham (Ala.) Sentinel, "therefore, the man who tills the soil and supports the soldier in the field, and the family at home, is rendering as noble and patriotic a service as the man who bears the brunt of battle."

This is the year when everyone who has to do with the growing of crops should do everything possible to get the largest crops. Ground should be plowed in the early spring. Stable manure and fertilizers should be used. Good seed planted and the crops carefully tended.

LIMITING CREDITS.

S. W. Roth of Chicago, publisher of a grocer's trade paper, is endeavoring to persuade the grocers of the country to limit credits, and cut down deliveries of goods. His idea is to have them make a charge of one cent for crediting an account, and of five cents for each delivery. A man who is perfectly able to pay cash, who has money lying idle in the bank, buys a bill of groceries and gets it charged. The bill it not presented to him until the first of the next month. Very likely he will let the payment of it go until nearly the month afterward, or even later. People of wealth are frequently remiss. They hate to bother with payments. Offer the thing that delays them is the mere bother of sitting down and writing a check. It seems to them so unimportant that they often forget it. Most grocers who extend credits freely, carry on their books a large sum of bills receivable. It being publicly known that they extend credit, they are compelled to give it to almost anyone. Some of these debts are non-collectible. To carry the whole lot, the grocer must either borrow money and pay interest, or his own capital is lying idle, which is the same thing. Of course it is very embarrassing when one of the grocer's friends come in and asks credit, or some poor man says he has nothing to eat in the house. It is, of course, perfectly natural for people to ask credit when they know that everyone else gets it. It does save some bother to be able to pay once a month, but it is a system that makes our living cost higher. The man who pays his bills has to pay for the man who doesn't. This Chicago publisher may do a large following on his proposition to charge for extension of credit. The people who say we can't win the war would be the same ones who would complain most bitterly about the standing army we will have to keep up if we don't win it. The people who are hollering the loudest about the fuel shortage are frequently those who have a very decent supply in their own store-houses. The youngsters are thankful that in spite of scarce sugar there is still enough Christmas candy left for them to get sick on.

HE HAS IRON IN HIS BLOOD
That is why he is such a great winner. He overcomes obstacles and knows no such thing as failure. Iron in the successful formula for Peptonin, which also includes pepsin, nux, celery and other tonics, sedatives and digestives, helps to give strength, color and body to the blood; reddens pale cheeks, steadies the nerves, nourishes and gives stamina to the whole body. Peptonin is in pill form, chocolate coated, pleasant to take, easily assimilated—the most successful combination of iron that its makers, C. I. Hood Co., Lowell, Mass., know of. It is the medicine for you. It will put iron into your blood. Advertisement.

RAILROAD PROBLEM.

(New York World.)
For years American railways have been controlled not by their stockholders, but by groups of bankers that furnished the money to finance the roads. Railroad policies have been decided not by railroad managers, but by Wall street financiers. If the United States government is to lend $1,000,000,000 to the railroads as a war measure, with it must necessarily go some sort of governmental control of the properties. If a banker who lends money to a railroad is entitled to a voice in the management the United States certainly has equal rights, and must exercise them. But the new form of governmental control must be different in spirit and purpose from the control that has just broken down. Public regulation that is merely repressive and restrictive has failed. That is admitted by the interstate commerce commission itself, which has officially abdicated. Congress cannot do better than to wipe off the slate and start anew. Railroad development and operation in this country have entered into a new phase. Railroad managers have come to recognize it, and the sooner congress recognizes it the better. The interstate commerce law was not drafted to meet the problems of present-day railroad operation, nor does the Sherman antitrust law recognize the existing state of facts. Under the stress of war the railroads are permitted to do in the public interest many things that were absolutely forbidden in private interest. These interests are not irreconcilable, however. What is desirable in war is no less desirable in peace, and the benefits of co-operation can be retained without sacrificing the public welfare. To do this, congress must get away from the Wall street point of view as to railroads, and likewise from the granger point of view. It cannot regard the roads as something to exploit or something to suppress, but it must return to first principles and treat them as common carriers affected with a public interest. All the water that has gone under the bridge since the first railroad decried the first legislature and the first granger statesman undertook to put all the railroads out of business might better be forgotten. The more fully the problem is dissociated from all the controversies of the past the better the chances for a successful solution. And such a solution must be found. It is either that or outright government ownership, and government ownership is not to be contemplated except as a last desperate resort. There is a same middle ground between unlicensed private exploitation of railroad properties and government ownership, just as there is a same middle ground between no governmental regulation and the kind of regulation that has stifled railroad development. The war furnishes not only the opportunity, but the strongest possible incentive for the settlement of this question, and no domestic issue that confronts the country is of greater importance. The one function of a railroad is to be a railroad—not a pawn in the game of Wall street finance or a convenient object for the gratification of popular antipathy toward corporations—but a railroad, a common carrier in all that the term implies. If congress approaches the task in that spirit, it will find no insurmountable difficulties.

A DEMOCRATIC ARMY.

(Baltimore Sun.)
It is not possible to overpraise the splendid attitude assumed by General H. A. Greene, of Camp Lewis, in his declaration: "This is an army of democracy and it must remain democratic. Officers and men of my command may meet as social equals outside the cantonment." It is not possible, indeed, sufficiently to praise such a succinct and vitally important statement. It is certainly not possible to give it sufficient, widespread, vigorous publicity which will make it sink deep into the mind of every American soldier and civilian. In an army there must be inflexible discipline. There must be iron-clad official caste distinctions. In a football team there must be inflexible discipline and complete temporary submission to established authority. But in the football team there is no enduring caste distinction once the training of the game is over. And in the army of this great democracy there must be no enduring caste distinction outside the boundaries of the cantonments. If there is to be any such caste distinction in this country, even the most patriotic and ardent American may well ask himself why we should be in the war at all.

Spirit of the Press

Worth Recognizing.
It is to be hoped that the administration will not unnecessarily interfere with such organizations of Home Guards as have been working hard for many months under official sanction for the organization of United States Guard to take over the duty of guarding munition plants, depots, arsenals, public utilities and to enforce alien enemy regulations. The government proposes to raise the new force by volunteer enlistment of men above the draft age, preferably those who have seen active service in some branch of the military. Failing this, however, recruits from the drafted men may be utilized. That something akin to a home guard will soon be needed in many states is scarcely debatable. If the present program of the War Department suffices it will constitute a rather simple solution of a difficult problem.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

QUAKER QUIPS.

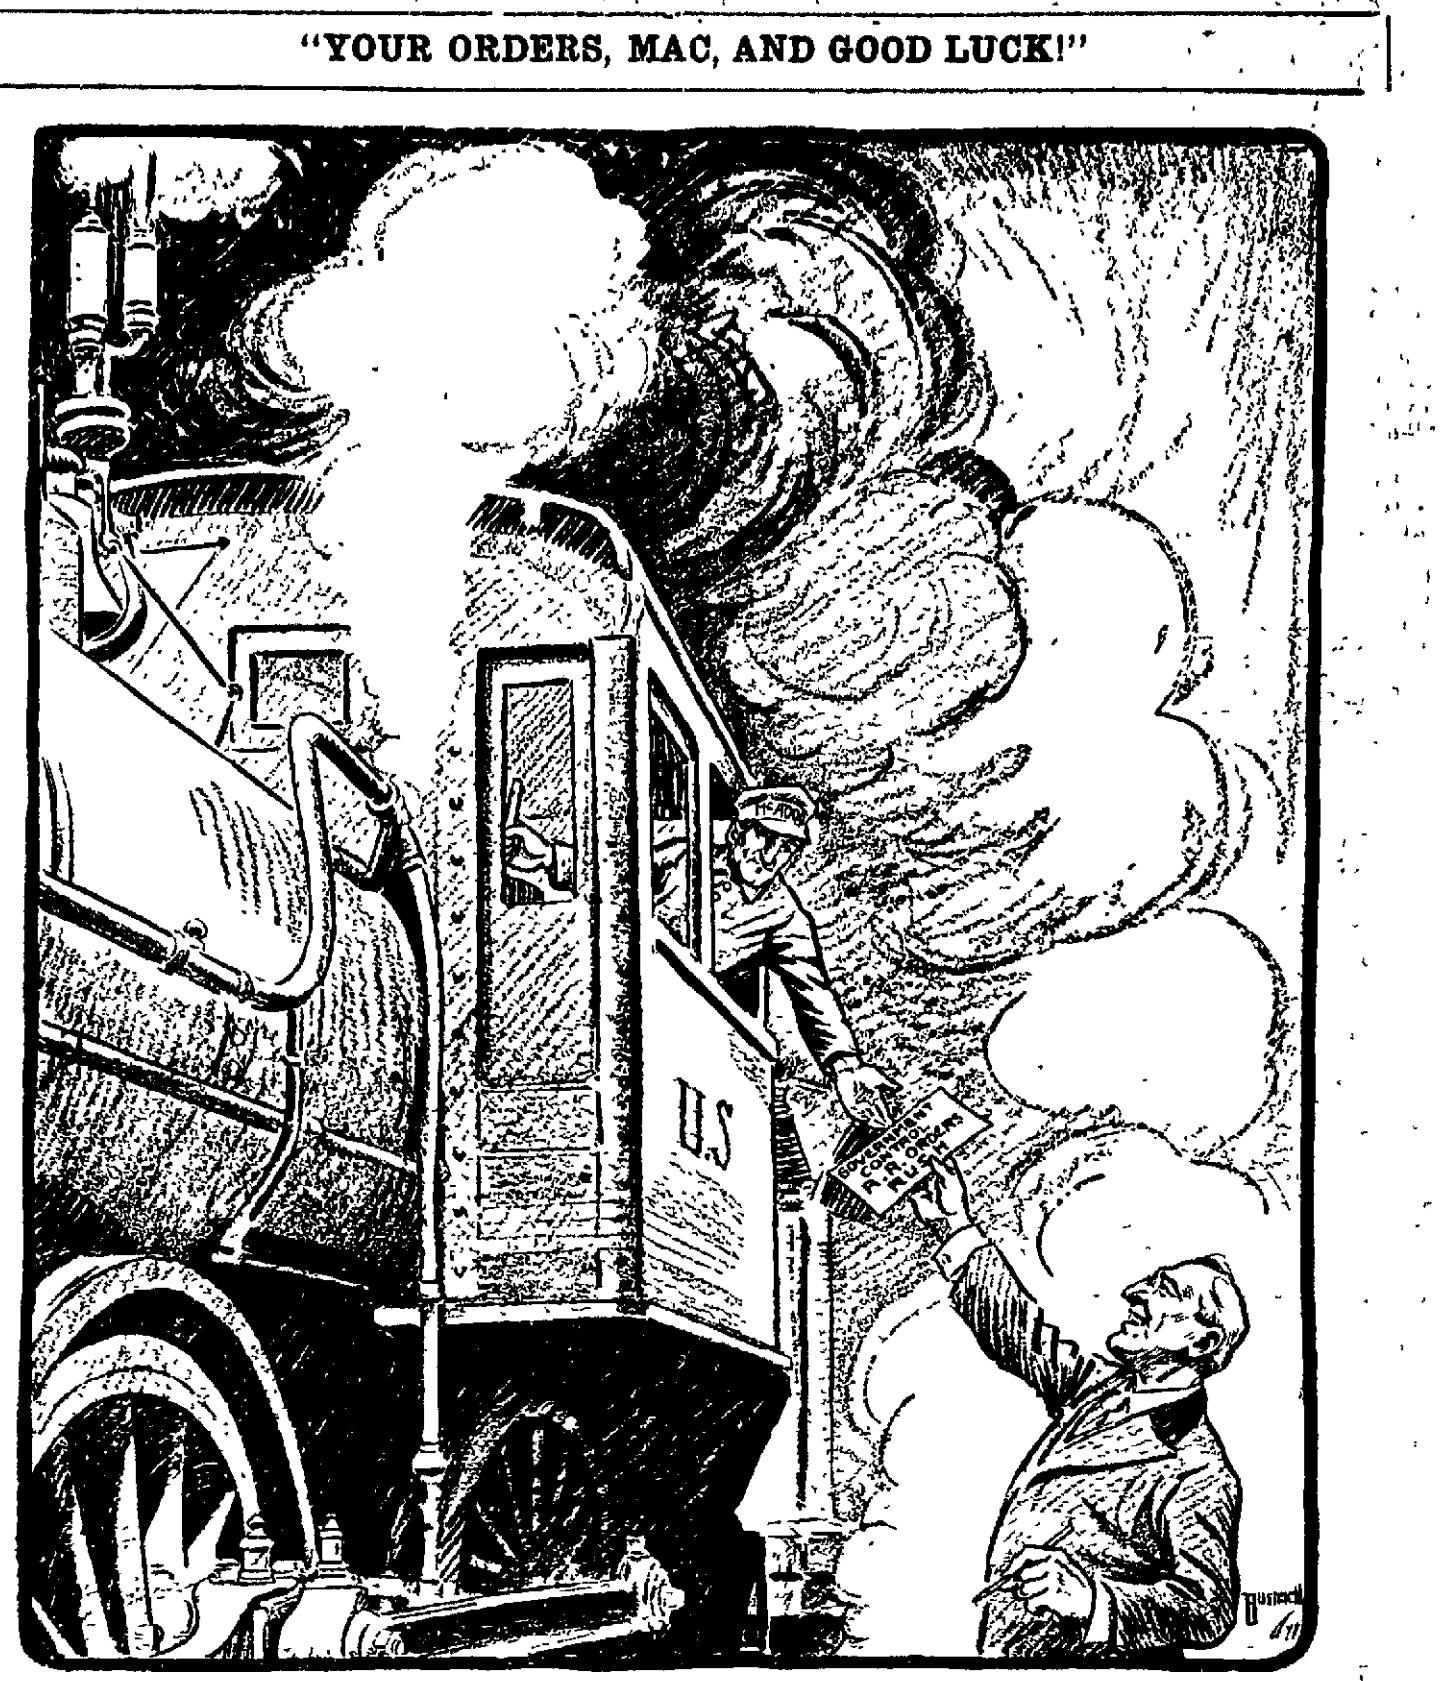

(Philadelphia Record.)
Never call a man a mule. A mule always does his kicking with his feet. Before you ask a man for his candid opinion it is just as well to be prepared for a jolt. Be alive to your opportunities. There isn't anything so dead as a dead sure thing. Any soldier can rise from the ranks, but the social climber isn't any better equipped than the other fellow.

The United States Guard.

Plans are announced at Washington for the organization of a United States Guard to take over the duty of guarding munition plants, depots, arsenals, public utilities and to enforce alien enemy regulations. The government proposes to raise the new force by volunteer enlistment of men above the draft age, preferably those who have seen active service in some branch of the military. Failing this, however, recruits from the drafted men may be utilized. That something akin to a home guard will soon be needed in many states is scarcely debatable. If the present program of the War Department suffices it will constitute a rather simple solution of a difficult problem.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"YOUR ORDERS, MAC, AND GOOD LUCK!"

There is, I know not how, in the minds of men, a certain presage, as it were, of a future existence; and this takes the deepest root, and is most discoverable in the greatest geniuses and most exalted souls.—Cicero.

The Slacker.

There was a young man of Otsego—Who suffered from ingrowing ego; He said, "Let others go To the war, but I know They would not have the heart to make me go."

Expected Diversion.

Aunt Caline says,—"Ole Doc Carven is off sick an' Doc's wife she was up all nite a-putting things on to him but the pane in his innerds jest got worse an' at last Doc he says, "Call up Killum, Hadda, I can't stand this pane no longer." So whilst she was at the telephone Doc's little boy which he was a-sleeping in a little bed on the other side o' the room, he crope out o' bed an' went over an' got in with his sister which her bed was up clost to Doc's. He leaned over an' whispered, "Wake up, Maggie, don't lay there an' sleep. Diddy is off sick an' mother has telephoned for Dr. Killum an' mebbe," he says in a hopeful voice, "mebbe they'll cut him open," he says.

Wrong Diagnosis.

A Newark man was telling a friend the other day of the growing inefficiency of one of his employees. "His mind never seems to be on his work," he said, and consequently he make a lot of mistakes." "Maybe he's in love," suggested the friend. "Oh, no," was the conclusive reply, "he's married."

Not Much of a Function.

War should not be permitted to eliminate our social life entirely and some day soon we are going to give a picnic luncheon in honor of our renial friends of The Toledo Blade, The Liberty Press and The Wilmington Journal-Republican.—Ohio State Journal.

It looks to us as though this would be a rather snippy culmination to such a long and brilliantly anticipated social event.

FOUR GENERATIONS HERE

Four generations are shown in this picture—Mr. C. G. Walker, of St. Louisville; Mrs. Edw. Williams, Arthur Williams and Helen Marie Williams all of Madison township.

Our Boys and Girls

A certain father, who hasn't forgotten his childhood days, was married by a cheerful room, fitted with soft off furniture and by constant injunctions not to do this or that for fear of breaking something, has originated a juvenile paradise for his own son.

The room, on the third floor of the house, is a bright sunny place, well ventilated by several windows which are safely barred. One end of the hardwood floor has been left uncovered, while over the other part is laid a soft, thick wooden rug fastened down securely. This serves as an arena for acrobatic feats or other romping.

There is no breakable bric-a-brac about, only a few brass bowls and trays for trinkets. The built in book case, where favorite books and magazines abound, have no glass doors and no silk curtains that may be torn from the rings or torn. In this way the boy is not continually haunted by the fear of breaking things and even a mild game of football harms nothing.

Milady's Boudoir

Importance of a Clean Skin.
It is quite clear that the first requirement of a healthy skin is to keep it clean. Women of the early ages, no doubt, left the cleansing process to the elements, the sun, the wind, and the rain. But with the advent of clothes, the elements could no longer serve the purpose of the toilet of the whole body, and so the bath and its multifarious accessories, in the shape of water, softeners, perfumes, soaps, skin foods, and all the other cleansing appliances of a strenuous civilization, came into being.

The daily bath is as essential to beauty as daily bread is to life. The skin, as I have already said many times, is an organ, one and indivisible and, as such, cannot be expected to be beautiful only in selected parts. As for example the face and neck and, perhaps, the shoulders and back. A beautiful skin, of course, is a skin that performs its natural functions in the normal and harmonious way.

You cannot expect that one bodily organ can be healthy in one part and unhealthy in another. Your face cannot look blooming if the rest of your skin is blotchy or discolored or otherwise abnormal. Hence the necessity of seeing that the skin of the whole body has its due attention. Then, and then only, is perfect beauty of complexion likely to be attained.

A tepid bath each day with plenty of good soap, followed by a cold shower, and a brisk rub will not only cleanse the body but will stimulate the circulation and create a healthful glow that is desired by every woman.

GRANVILLE

(Special to The Advocate.)

Granville, Dec. 29.—As head of the Physics department of Denison University, Prof. C. D. Coons was to have accompanied President C. W. Chamberlain to the meetings of the American Physical society in Pittsburgh this week. As head, also, of the Licking County Draft board No. 1, however, he found inexcusable duty pointing the straight and narrow way to other activities. Government first, is the mayor's slogan these days, and all during the vacation, the board has been holding all day sessions. Classification claims at the rate of 150 per day now engage attention and the board is still mailing out questionnaires at the rate of 5 per cent a day. These, probably, will not all be mailed before January 5th. This classification work, supposed to be completed in 60 days from December 15th, will have been finished by the county board long before that time. The work of the board of legal advisers throughout the county has greatly facilitated the efforts of the county board by the invaluable assistance rendered the registrants in filling out the questionnaires.

An interesting letter has been received by the family of Lieut. James H. Sheppard, son of William C. Sheppard of Grand Rapids, Mich., a former resident of Granville, a nephew of C. C. Robinson and Miss Eva Robinson, and a grandson of Rev. Thomas C. Sheppard, Andersonville Prison chaplain. Lieut. Sheppard is now in France and in his letter gave an account of a visit to Rheims and the battlefields near Soissons. "Perhaps for future generations," he concludes, "Rheims will be even more a place of pilgrimage than it has been in the past, for to me the dignity and grandeur of the wonderful old church is enhanced by the defacement to which it has been subjected."

John I. Price, who enlisted in the navy is on the U. S. S. Iowa "somewhere on the Atlantic."

Harmon A. Nixon, Denison, '11, is "somewhere in France," and writes interesting letters to his mother, Mrs. H. A. Nixon. He thinks the French language will not be hard to pick up for those having received a working basis while in college. He is with Battery C, 149th U. S. Field Artillery.

Mrs. S. A. Coons, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Florence Coons of Pataskala, after a pleasant Christmas visit at the home of her son and daughter, Prof. and Mrs. C. D. Coons in East Broadway, have returned home.

In the current issue of the Granville Times, Prof. W. H. Johnson has published an appreciation of the work in France of Howard Copland, who entered the Freshman class in Denison in the middle eighties, but who finished his college work in Yale. "Ever since the beginning of the war he has thrown all his time and energy into the cause of mercy among the soldiers of Liberty on the western front. At present he is director of service of delegates of the American Fund for French Wounded, the 'A. F. F. W.' in which the women of Granville have taken so deep an interest. In the current issue of the Yale Review, dated January, 1918, he has an article of nearly twenty pages, entitled, 'The Red Cross Dollar in France.' It is very evident from Mr. Copland's pages that he can be trusted to put the money which goes through his hands where it will do good, and that it will be so used that thousands of grateful French hearts will be drawn permanently nearer to our own land as a result of these benefactions. * * * In the seed of human brotherhood that are being sown by just such agencies as the A. F. F. W., the Red Cross, and the Y. M. C. A., lies the world's best hope for the growth of world peace, for it is seed of the tree whose leaves were divinely meant to be for the healing of the nations."

Mrs. Louis Rumsey delightfully entertained thirty guests at a knitting party Friday afternoon at her home in East Elm street. Five ladies of the faculty set were present, the others being Newark friends of the hostess. At five o'clock the decorations were red carnations and narcissi.

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Stanton have returned from a Christmas visit with their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Bousall in Pittsburgh.

The friends of Mrs. Henry Crosby, nee Miss Sue Little, were saddened by the news of her death which occurred Friday (yesterday) at her home in Three Oaks, Mich., following a stroke of paralysis which will be held at the home in Three Oaks on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Crosby was born in Granville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Little, and was one of the most popular girls of the village. After she had finished her schooling the family removed to Kansas where they have since resided. She is survived by her husband and one brother, Harry Little of Abilene, Kan., who was at her bedside during her illness.

At the M. E. church Sunday morning the topic of the sermon will be "Sins of Omission," of the evening sermon, "Resolutions," by the pastor, Rev. B. F. Crawford.

At the Presbyterian church both services conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. D. Barnes. Topic for the morning: "Fundamentals," the pastor, Dr. Willard Brelford, just returned from a vacation visit in Toledo, will conduct both services.

HELP WIN THE WAR

The Ohio War Board says today: Have you invested in a "baby bond" yet? The U. S. treasury department is issuing Savings Stamps in order that everyone can have a share in loaning money to the government to help win the war. Like Liberty bonds, War Savings stamps have the entire resources of the government and the people of the United States behind them. Uncle Sam needs every penny which every man, woman and child can save to equip and feed her soldiers—to win the war. In making your New Year's resolutions, resolve to invest all your small savings in Thrift Stamps which can be exchanged for War Savings Stamps.

THE NURSE SHOWS MOTHER, HOW TO BATHE BABY.

Welcome Prepared For Little Ones of the Poor—Mothers Instructed in Their Care by Infant Welfare Nurses.

Thousands of children are born each year in our big cities who have literally no place to lay their heads. No preparation is made for their coming. Little or no clothing is ready for them. This is not because their mothers do not want to prepare a fitting welcome, but because they cannot afford to.

It is hard to believe that any mother is so poor that she cannot prepare some kind of a welcome for her child, so hard that nothing but a trip to one of the desolate homes of a big city can convince us that it can be true.

That a trip may have its encouraging side, to offset the discouraging, it is well to make it with a public health nurse employed by the city or by one of the relief agencies. The nurse carries with her a feeling of security. We know that if anything can be done to alleviate suffering, and to brighten the face of poverty she will do it. She has learned to be resourceful. Her hospital training has taught her that she must act quickly.

Bag in hand, the nurse climbs up four flights of dirty stairs. This is not a prenatal case in which the nurse has been preparing the mother for the coming of her baby. If it were the home would be in a very different condition. It is an emergency case.

The room is dirty, dark and ill-smelling, but the nurse sets to work to put it in order and makes the mother as comfortable as possible.

"This will be a basket baby," she says as she makes her plans for its coming.

The meaning of this remark is not clear until the next visit is made to the same home the following day. Is it really the same home, you wonder. It has been transformed by a thorough cleaning. The floor is clean, the stove shines and there are curtains at the windows.

On the floor beside the bed is an ordinary clothes basket. Closer inspection proves that it has been converted into a bassinet for the baby. It is fitted with mattress and sheets and a pink woolly blanket with rabbits woven in it. A baby's outfit is in readiness. Everything is there, even to the pink sleeping cap.

Once the basket baby arrives the nurse makes herself personally responsible for it. She places it on her calling list. Every day she stops in to show the mother how to bathe, dress and feed it. She sees that the mother does not go back to work too soon. She sees that the other children have proper food and care. Perhaps she helps the father to get a better job; and she may even move the family into healthier quarters.

This is the kind of work that thousands of baby welfare nurses are doing in large cities in rural districts and small towns they are working, too, for better babies and for a higher health standard in the home. The country needs these nurses now more than it ever needed them, for the life of every individual is important in the winning of the war. An appeal has been made by the Nursing Committee of the Council of National Defense at Washington for more young women to enter hospital training schools and fit themselves for nursing in order that the health standard of the nation may be raised during these times of physical, mental and economic stress.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily made.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "home-made" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (60 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 65 cents and gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

Tastes pleasant and never spoils. This Pinex and sugar syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty tickle and heals the sore, irritated membrane that lines the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated essence of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, be sure to ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

contributed to the screen. When the story opens, Miss Clark is a delightful girl living in a canal boat with a stern old grandfather who forbids her to have anything to do with the outside world. Fretting under the restraint, she skins away from the boat and meets a young doctor—the first man that she has really been brought into contact with. The result is inevitable. In conjunction with this is seen the Hearst-Pathe News.

"The Painted Madonna." Manager Fenberg of the Auditorium has arranged another one of those pleasuring Sunday screen entertainments for his many friends and patrons and in the new William Fox star Sonia Markova, patrons of his theater will see a coming star for film. In "The Painted Madonna" as Stella Dean, living a happy life in Pleasantville, happens one day upon the easel and brushes of Milton Taylor, an artist. She sketches a caricature of "Daddy Long Legs" and labels it "The Great Artist." Taylor's attempt to embrace her has been seen by John Radon, with whom Stella is in love. A severe rainstorm drives Radon and Stella to the shelter of a cabin that afternoon. As the rain emerges after the shower and John Radon has refused to marry her, the girl walks to a cliff, and ponders irresolutely. She changes her mind and returns home in a daze.

That night, Stella Dean steals away from home. The shock kills her mother. Together with the above feature is seen a two reel Fox comedy, also the Plaindealer Magazine, showing life at both Camp Sherman and Sheridan.

"On Trial." Little Mary McAllister, although not yet seven years of age, is an actress with as great a following as most of the pet ingenues of the screen of three times her age, more or less. This little Essanay star handles the child part in "On Trial" with a skill unusual to one of her years. Her performance has attracted the attention of critics and public who have been following her work during the past year. Her screen experience began when she was a baby, and she has since played with several companies throughout the west. Essanay discovered her adaptability, however, and promoted her rapidly until she now is without doubt the best known child actress on the screen. Her next picture, "On Trial," at the Auditorium theater next Friday and Saturday. It is said to be more elaborate than the last, in which Colman and Harris exploited so successfully.

Petrova as the star, has been written by the actress herself. "This is not the only photodrama to Mme. Petrova's credit, for she is also author of "To the Death," "The Black Butterfly," and other Metro wonderplays.

Mme. Petrova's first work was as a writer. On the occasion of the new books and plays, and in attending the latter, she decided that her real forte lay in acting. However, she never has been interested in the world of letters, and still writes not only screen stories, but poems which are models of cleverness and wit.

Harry Lauder at COLUMBUS TODAY
Columbus, Dec. 29.—Harry Lauder
addressed an audience of over 1000 men at Memorial Hall at noon
today at a luncheon given by business men. Lauder arrived here yesterday, the second anniversary of the ill-fated day when his own son,
Captain John Lauder, Argyle South-
land Highlanders, lost his life on the British front. Lauder is in Columbus filling a theatrical engagement.
Galleries in the big Memorial Hall
were opened to women and children
at noon today and several thousand
heard the world-wide and famed Scotchman talk of the war. He gave
a message to all parents having boys
in the war as follows:

"Every mother and father who
loses a son in this way must have a strong, unbreakable faith in the
future life, in the world beyond,
where you will see your son once
again. Do not give way to grief.
Instead, keep your gaze and your faith firmly fixed on the world beyond and regard your boy's absence
as though he were but on a long journey. By keeping your faith you will help to win this war. For if you lose it, the war and your own personal self are lost."

Premature Hope.

AMERICANS GET GRIM TRAINING

Pershing's Men Quick to Learn
Tricks of War.

"BETTER THAN WEST POINT"

School for Young Soldiers Behind
Lines Produces Results in Fast Time—
Go Through All War Tactics Under
British and French Instructions—
Mentality and Physique of Men Ex-
cites Admiration.

The training of young American officers in a special camp has a grimmer
seriousness and intent than I can imagine anything of the sort could assume
at Plattsburg, Fort Sheridan or any similar camp in America. There is,
first, the psychological reason that
these embryo leaders of the Sammies
in the ranks are receiving instruction
under the soil of France, and that the environment surrounding them smells
more of real war than would be possible 3,000 miles away across blue water, says a correspondent writing from
the American field headquarters in France.

There is also something of that inspiration and quality coming from contact with the French people; those in
horizon blue about them; those in civilian clothes who are doing their bit behind the lines. For France stands out
among all nations that are taking part
in this war as an example in devotion,
courage and fortitude beyond compare.

In this school several hundred embryo officers are doing everything and
learning everything that the enlisted
man has to perform, and bringing it to
a degree of perfection ere he can be
truly listed as a soldier of modern warfare.

There is nothing of the kid-glove,
dreside, easy-chair side of their work,
and when taps sound at night, their un-
trained muscles ache, and the cot is a welcome thing. There is nothing either
of textbook courses or of dignified
drills. It's practical hustle from morning to night.

Dig Trenches and Throw Grenades.
They are digging trenches, learning
the use of machine guns and V. B.
rifles, throwing live grenades, discharging service shells, going through attack
formation and jabbing imaginary
Boches in the eye, the throat, the heart
and the stomach; taking gas tests, going through every phase of hard work
that involves trench warfare.

There is an old regular army adage
that any sort of a man physically fit
can be rounded into a soldier, but that
the officers are special creatures, endowed from the gods. This, as many
an ancient belief that existed in the
days of civilized-in-the-open warfare,
has gone by the board.

In its place has risen the certainty
of knowledge that the real difference between the soldier in the ranks
and the officer commanding him is truly
nil; that one is as good as the other
in the stuff that makes the fighter.
What is more genuinely important, in
order to properly command men and
inspire them with confidence, what is needed is not theory or "book larnin'"
or a better quality of cloth in a blouse,
but actual experience and knowledge
of the work itself.

Better Than West Point.
This is General Pershing's opinion,
as well as that of Gen. Robert Bullard,
a veteran infantry officer, in charge of the camp, who declares in tones of
genuine enthusiasm that the commissioned men when leaving this school
to undertake commands will be better
soldiers than they even know themselves, and that they will go up against
the Boches with the knowledge and confidence impossible were they merely
graduates of West Point.

The school is purely for infantry officers, who, in the male, will become second and first lieutenants when they
"graduate," if the term may be used.
It is an established French institution, combining permanent barracks
and, to a certain degree, modern comforts for the men when off duty. As it is the intention to greatly enlarge it,
a number of new buildings are in course
of erection. The location is in a beautiful section of rural France.

Go Through All War Tactics.
A battalion of French soldiers may
be seen going through all the stunts of
modern warfare, while embryo officers
from over the sea look on. The Polish
captured mock German trenches with an exact indescribable, demonstrating
rocket signaling, bayonet charges,
grenade and liquid fire, and every
branch of field work.

Immediately afterward the youthful
Americans were put through the same
maneuvers, entering into the work with
a genuine will. It seemed odd to see these young officers-to-be, working and
active exactly like so many Sammies
in training, as witnessed in other camps. They will know the game when they "get on the real job." And to know the game from the ground up is
the way properly to trim the barbarian.
One thing stands out. That is the use of the rifle. The rifle is the American weapon, and, according to General
Bullard, who is here in 100 per cent
harmony of opinion with General
Pershing and Sibert, every man in rank
or file in the new American army must be a marksman, in addition to being able to handle the grenade.

British and French Instructions.
Instructors are both British and French. From the former a general
course in pioneer work, sapping, mining,
machine gun work, etc., is given.

tars is obtained, and from the latter bayonet attack, gasping, grenade and liquid fire work. Thus the methods in use in both armies now holding the line
against the Boche are absorbed.

There are 37 French and British officers on the job. A number expressed enthusiasm at the mental and physical stuff in the future American commanders, and it was easy to understand why after seeing them at work. For they are the pick of the home training camps, coming from every branch of professional life, university graduates,
former army enlisted men, patriotic
sons of patriotic and wealthy fathers.

Intellect is written all over their physiognomies. "As sure as shootin', they'll deliver the goods."

Work Like Enlisted Men.
Company formation is preserved
among them exactly as if they were enlisted men. Each company is split into two classes of about seventy-five men each, and, to facilitate identification in instruction, every man wears a broad band around his service hat,
these ribbons denoting the particular branch of warfare in which he is specializing, for there are special as well
as general classes.

Machine-gun specialists wear a yellow ribbon, hand grenade men orange,
rifle grenade red, bayonet experts
white, liquid fire blue, and so on, with the good, old-fashioned tried and true American rifleman wearing a band of green.

It is General Bullard's intention to have this first lot of men act as instructors for their fellows to follow.
And a point I noted with genuine pleasure was the absolute cordiality between the British, French and American officers, those instructing and those being instructed.

Appear as One Family.
They were truly as one family and truly working together as brothers and allies in a great cause. The stuff they showed bodes ill for the barbarian
Boche, for which the gods be praised.

General Bullard drove some miles to a special school where American aviation mechanics are receiving instruction from French experts. Courses in repairing all kinds of airplanes are in progress, including the practical rebuilding of a fighting or observation plane.

The work at this school consists of textbooks and lecture instruction in the afternoon, with practical work in the forenoon. This practical work consists in part of the removal from a machine by a French expert of some important or unimportant part, which
the American has to find as missing,
and improvise or reinsert into position.

Every imaginary trouble that can come to an engine is deliberately created, and the student has to locate the trouble and master it. The French instructors are high in praise of American aptness, as shown in this school,
and several told me "that, as mechanics,
"les Americans" were "epatants."

WOMAN ENLISTS AS NAVAL ELECTRICIAN

The first woman to enlist in the navy
as an electrician has joined the colors.
She is Abby Putnam Morrison, and
she is now an "Electrician, First Class" in the navy. She is a member of the wireless class for women of which Mrs. Robert Sumner Owen is the founder and director. Divisions of this class are detailed to Hunter college, the Marconi Radio school and to the Young Men's Christian association. In this photograph Miss Morris-
son is not wearing a navy uniform, but
she is wearing the navy insignia of her
rank and branch of the service on her sleeve.

THRIFT STAMPS ARE GIVEN TO EMPLOYEES AS HOLIDAY PRESENTS

Among large Ohio corporations
giving United States War Savings
stamps to employees as Christmas gifts was the Owens Bottle Machine company. This concern purchased a $25,000 block of the stamps and distributed them among its workmen.

Employees of the Mansfield Tire &
Rubber company were each given a $5 War Savings stamp from the firm
as a Christmas gift.

The B. F. Goodrich company, Akron, distributed $22,000 of the stamps among the employees working in its big rubber manufacturing plant.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR GIRLS

Many Additional Avenues of Employment Now Open to Them.

The shortage of young men and
fuller appreciation of the natural
aptitude of girls for office positions are opening the doors of
many hundreds of additional institutions to young women.

This trend is especially notice-
able in banks, insurance, railroad
and other offices. Young women
are filling responsible positions
and doing their work well.

In quickness of perception, deft-
ness, neatness and cheerfulness
they are better qualified for many lines of work than men. This causes an increasing number of
managers to give them the preference.

Every bright, healthy girl with
a normal desire to be self-supporting and independent may easily
realize her ambition. Proper
training, combined with persistent application of the knowledge
acquired and continued study,
make it readily possible for her
to advance rapidly.

The important thing is to make
the start—to secure the proper
training. Our New Year classes
provide the best opportunity.

HARRY LAUDER AT
COLUMBUS TODAY

Columbus, Dec. 29.—Harry Lauder addressed an audience of over 1000 men at Memorial Hall at noon
 today at a luncheon given by business men. Lauder arrived here yesterday, the second anniversary of the
 ill-fated day when his own son,
 Captain John Lauder, Argyle South-
 land Highlanders, lost his life on the British front. Lauder is in Columbus filling a theatrical engagement.

Galleries in the big Memorial Hall
 were opened to women and children
 at noon today and several thousand
 heard the world-wide and famed Scotchman talk of the war. He gave
 a message to all parents having boys
 in the war as follows:

"Every mother and father who
 loses a son in this way must have a
 strong, unbreakable faith in the
 future life, in the world beyond,
 where you will see your son once
 again. Do not give way to grief.
 Instead, keep your gaze and your faith fixed on the world beyond and regard your boy's absence
 as though he were but on a long journey. By keeping your faith you
 will help to win this war. For if
 you lose it, the war and your own
 personal self are lost."

Premature Hope.

AMERICANS GET

GRIM TRAINING

Pershing's Men Quick to Learn
 Tricks of War.

"BETTER THAN WEST POINT"

School for Young Soldiers Behind
Lines Produces Results in Fast Time
—Go Through All War Tactics Under
British and French Instructors—
Mentality and Physique of Men Ex-
cites Admiration.

The training of young American officers in a special camp has a grimmer
 seriousness and intent than I can imagine anything of the sort could assume
 at Plattsburg, Fort Sheridan or any
 similar camp in America. There is,
 first, the psychological reason that
 these embryo leaders of the Sammies
 in the ranks are receiving instruction
 upon the soil of France, and that the environment surrounding them smells
 more of real war than would be possible 3,000 miles away across blue water, says a correspondent writing from
 the American field headquarters in France.

There is also something of that inspiration and quality coming from contact with the French people; those in
 horizon blue about them; those in civilian clothes who are doing their bit behind the lines. For France stands out
 among all nations that are taking part
 in this war as an example in devotion,
 courage and fortitude beyond compare.

In this school several hundred em-
 bryo officers are doing everything and
 learning everything that the enlisted
 man has to perform, and bringing it to
 a degree of perfection ere he can be
 truly listed as a soldier of modern warfare.

There is nothing of the kid-glove,
 fireside, easy-chair side of their work,
 and when taps sound at night, their un-
 trained muscles ache, and the cot is a
 welcome thing. There is nothing either
 of textbook courses or of dignified
 drills. It's practical hustle from morning to night.

Dig Trenches and Throw Grenades.
 They are digging trenches, learning
 the use of machine guns and V. B.
 rifles, throwing live grenades, discharg-
 ing service shells, going through attack
 formation and jabbing imaginary
 Boches in the eye, the throat, the heart
 and the stomach; taking gas tests, going through every phase of hard work
 that involves trench warfare.

There is an old regular army adage
 that any sort of a man physically fit
 can be rounded into a soldier, but that
 the officers are special creatures, endowed from the gods. This, as many
 an ancient belief that existed in the
 days of civilized-in-the-open warfare,
 has gone by the board.

In its place has risen the certainty
 of knowledge that the real difference between the soldier in the ranks and the officer commanding him is truly
 nil; that one is as good as the other
 in the stuff that makes the fighter.
 What is more genuinely important, in
 order to properly command men and
 inspire them with confidence, what is needed is not theory or "book latin"
 or a better quality of cloth in a blouse,
 but actual experience and knowledge
 of the work itself.

Better Than West Point.
 This is General Pershing's opinion,
 as well as that of Gen. Robert Bullard,
 a veteran infantry officer, in charge of the camp, who declares in tones of
 genuine enthusiasm that the commissioned men here leaving this school
 to undertake commands will be better
 soldiers than they even know themselves, and that they will go up against
 the Boches with the knowledge and confidence impossible were they merely
 graduates of West Point.

The school is purely for infantry officers, who, in the main, will become
 second and first lieutenants when they
 "graduate." If the term may be used.
 It is an established French institution, combining permanent barracks
 and, to a certain degree, modern comforts for the men when on duty. As it is the intention to greatly enlarge it,
 a number of new buildings are in course
 of erection. The location is in a beautiful section of rural France.

Go Through All War Tactics.
 A battalion of French soldiers may
 be seen going through all the stunts of
 modern warfare, while embryo officers
 from over the sea look on. The Polish
 captured mock German trenches with
 an electrified barbed wire, demonstrating
 rocket signaling, bayonet charges,
 grenade and liquid fire, and every
 branch of field work.

Immediately afterward the youthful
 Americans were put through the same
 maneuvers, entering into the work with
 a genuine will. It seemed odd to see
 these young officers-to-be working and
 active exactly like so many Sammies
 in training, as witnessed in other
 camps. They will know the game when they "get on the real job." And to know the game from the ground up is
 the way properly to train the barbarian.

One thing stands out. That is the use of the rifle. The rifle is the American weapon, and, according to General
 Bullard, who is here in 100 per cent
 harmony of opinion with Generals
 Pershing and Sibert, every man in rank
 or file in the new American army must be a marksmen, in addition to being
 able to handle the grenade.

British and French Instructors.
 Instructors are both British and French. From the former a general course in pioneering, sapping, using machine guns, and so on, and from the latter the tactics of the modern war.

The first woman to enlist in the navy

 lege, the Marconi Radio school and to

 son is not wearing a navy uniform, but
 she is wearing the navy insignia of her
 rank and branch of the service on her

 Many Additional Avenues of Employment Now Open to Them.

The shortage of young men and
 fuller appreciation of the natural
 aptitude of girls for office positions are opening the doors of
 many hundreds of additional institutions to young women.

This trend is especially notice-
 able in banks, insurance, railroad
 and other offices. Young women
 are filling responsible positions
 and doing their work well.

In quickness of perception, deft-
 ness, neatness and cheerfulness
 they are better qualified for many
 lines of work than men. This
 causes an increasing number of
 managers to give them the preference.

Every bright, healthy girl with
 a normal desire to be self-supporting and independent may easily
 realize her ambition. Proper
 training, combined with persistent application of the knowledge
 acquired and continued study,
 make it readily possible for her
 to advance rapidly.

The important thing is to make
 the start—to secure the proper
 training. Our New Year classes
 provide the best opportunity.

 She is Abby Putnam Morrison, and
 she is now an "Electrician, First

 this class are detailed to Hunter col-
